

Where state construction and output reliance diverge

Points below the line contribute more strongly to constructing h_t than they change the final output

